

Airman 1st Class Nathan Turner, 90th Missile Maintenance Squadron, paints Warren's responsible drinking program logo on the back of Cheryl Maddox, wife of Tech. Sgt. Chester Maddox, 90th Maintenance Operations Squadron.

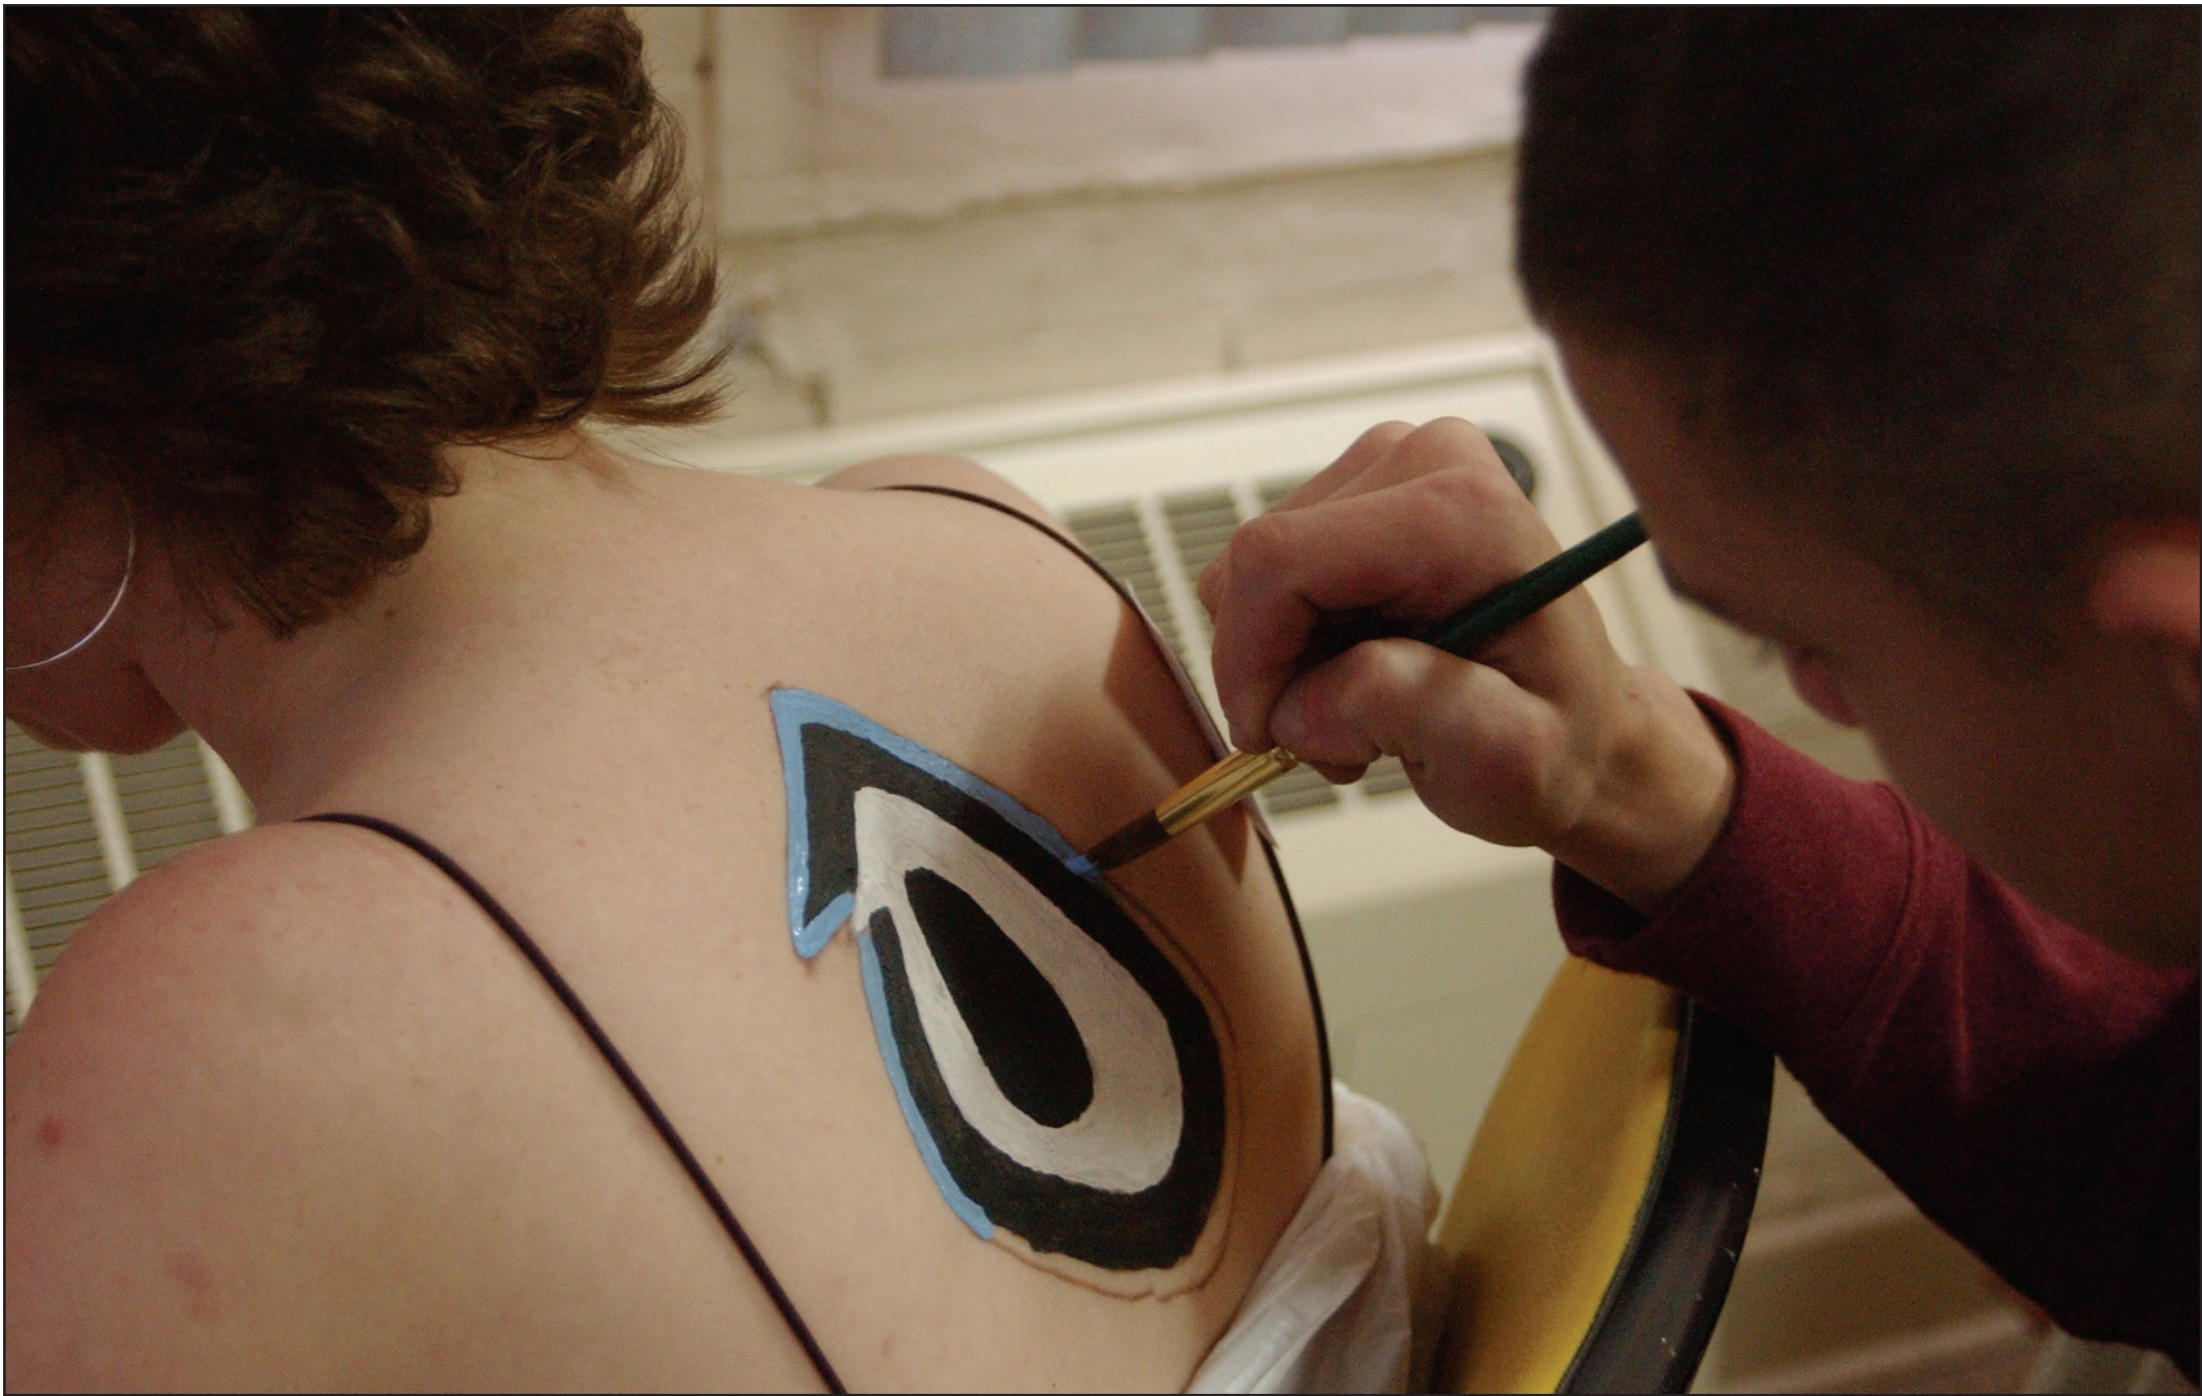

Photo by Airman 1st Class Lauren Sixbey

Group effort

Businesses, Airmen, spouses support 0-0-1-3

Photo by Airman 1st Class Connor Elayan

Kevin Elayan, a student at Cheeks International School of Beauty Culture, prepares Jessica Parks for the latest 0-0-1-3 photo shoot.

90th Space Wing Public Affairs

Members from the base and the local community came out in droves to help as Warren put together a photo shoot Feb. 3 for the next phase of the 0-0-1-3 responsible drinking program. The phase titled "Beautiful People" depicts people 21 and older dancing, partying and having a good time without drinking heavily. The 0-0-1-3 three-pack made by the visual information department became a focal point throughout the shoot. The volunteer models included: Cheryl Maddox, Warren spouse, Jessica Parks, Warren spouse, Kevin Elayan, Warren spouse, Airmen 1st Class Luvelle Pemberton, 90th Space Wing Command Post, Emily Morgan, 90th Medical Support Squadron, Dane Sauer, 90th Medical Operations Squadron, and Ray Jimmerson, 90 MDOS. Cheeks International School of Beauty Culture, located on 18th Street, donated their services for the women models. Under their teacher's supervision, students performed full make-up and hair services. As well as being a full service salon open to the public, Cheeks is also a beauty academy with programs such as cosmetology, esthetician and nail technician. For more information regarding services they provided, call 634-2144. Party Dreams, also located on 18th Street, provided the women's ensembles. In addition to formal wear, they also provide costumes and decorations. For more information on the services they provided, call 632-9898. "[Providing dresses for the models is] the least we could do to with the service that they're doing for us," said Sherry Wunder, owner of Party Dreams who has a number of family members either currently serving or who have served in the military. The men's formal attire was provided by Warren's own military clothing sales, which can be reached at 773-3135. "The tux shop we had originally lined up, fell out at the last minute," said 1st Lt. Nicole Walters, 90th Space Wing Public Affairs. "I made one last desperate call to AAFES clothing sales and, like always, they were there to help us out." Local artists Airman 1st Class Nathaniel Turner, 90th Missile Maintenance Squadron, and Capt. Warren Neary, 90th Space Wing Public Affairs, donated their services by painting the 0-0-1-3 logo on the model's backs. "We graciously thank our models and supporters who proved, once again, the 0-0-1-3 program is not only important to our installation, but to the local community as well," said Airman 1st Class Lauren Sixbey, 90th Space Wing Public Affairs. Look for the upcoming 0-0-1-3 phase "Beautiful People" to premiere across Warren in early March. For more information on how you can get involved in the 0-0-1-3 marketing program, call Airman 1st Class Tessa Cubbon, 90th Space Wing Public Affairs office at 773-3381.

Photo by Airman 1st Class Lauren Sixbey

Above: Airman 1st Class Dane Sauer, 90th Medical Operations Squadron, kicks back and relaxes between shoots. Right: Cathy Alexander-Bowers (right), Cheeks student and wife of Tech. Sgt. Reginal Bowers, 90th Security Forces Group, and Christina Morales, Cheeks student, prep Airman 1st Class Luvelle Pemberton before the shoot.

Photo by Airman 1st Class Connor Elayan